SAY WHAT?

One of the blessings of the Covid pandemic was that it inspired or forced a lot of people, churches, employers and others to take our online potential more seriously. Zoom and Teams software was rolled out to us staff in Lichfield Diocese in a matter of days at the start of the first lockdown, and we've appreciated the flexibility it offers as well as some of the downsides. Many churches too found new ways to keep in touch, whether with services streamed on YouTube or more interactively via WhatsApp groups, Facebook pages, Twitter, Instagram and the rest. Most will have seen occasions where harmony vanishes and tempers flare as the feeling of anonymity leads to the irrepressible urge to win an argument and put the internet right. We might even have added fuel to the fire. Or we might have taken umbrage, blocking the rogue or even taking ourselves offline.

Humans have been ever thus. We see it this month as we read the Gospel records of Good Friday. Luke writes that "The people stood watching... the rulers sneered... the soldiers mocked... the criminal hurled insults" (Luke chapter 23). Pilate was perhaps the shrewdest of the characters – as a Roman governor tired of the squabbling between the Jewish leaders and upstart preacher from Galilee, he had a sign nailed above one of the crucified, saying 'Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews'. There's a good chance he believed it to be true; but having the sign added was perhaps also designed to troll the Jewish leaders after reluctantly giving them what they wanted to keep the peace. The predictable flame-war followed. An academic might describe this as post-modern irony; a teenager would add an eye-roll. There was some ambiguity in it, and people would talk. The priests tried to 'correct' the Roman governor. There's no affirmation in the Gospels that any of those people would join Jesus in heaven. Just the second criminal crucified next to Jesus, who spoke plainly, admitted his own failings, expressing himself truthfully and kindly. I've long held, tongue-in-cheek, to my belief in Bananarama Theology – sadly, most people reading this will be old enough to remember their hit, 'It ain't what you do, it's the way that you do it – that's what gets results'. The Church of England might agree, in other words. In 2019 it launched its Digital Charter and social media guidelines with the hope of tackling offensive behaviour and encouraging a positive atmosphere for online conversations. It asks us to treat online conversations the same way we should face-to-face – with truth, kindness, welcome, as good witnesses, togetherness and alert to safeguarding issues. It's well worth taking a moment to read at www.churchofengland.org/charter before joining your local community, parish and our diocese online.

A Life in the Air

April is a month to marvel at the birds returning to our shores, a true herald of spring. During the month you may witness first Martins, then Swallows and finally Swifts appearing, with the Swifts last to arrive in late April. These Swifts are at the end of a nonstop journey of over 6,000 miles from Africa; they will have been on the wing since they left the U.K. last August as they eat, drink and sleep on the wing, soaring up to 3km high and reaching speeds of 70mph.

Swifts look rather like swallows and martins but are more closely related to hummingbirds. They feed on insects and spiders, often caught high up in the sky. Spiders are known to 'balloon' to great heights, they spin a few strands of gossamer web which catches the wind and can take them long distances. Spiders have been found 5km up in the sky and in also in mid-ocean!

Swifts pair for life and return to the same nest site year after year. They tend to nest in colonies – within a hole in a cliff, wall or roof. Tall buildings with more than one story, such as churches and towers, make good nesting sites. Under church eaves is a particular favourite. It can be difficult to know exactly where swifts are nesting as the parents tend to eat the droppings of their young and so there is little or no mess beneath a swift nest and the nest itself remains completely out of sight. In addition, they don't return to feed their young often, so you will not see swifts repeatedly visiting their nests with food, unlike swallows and martins. Look for swifts nipping into holes or swooping in under the eaves, particularly in the evening when they do return to their nests.

Sadly this fantastic bird is in trouble – 58% of our swifts vanished between 1996 and 2018 and lack of nesting sites is contributing to their decline. Many established swift colonies are being lost through building demolition, renovation, improvements in energy efficiency and roof repair. It is possible to do all of these important building works without adversely affecting swifts however. Many communities are helping swifts by fitting nest boxes or swift bricks into and onto buildings with good success. Church towers are ideal places for nesting boxes. Place swift boxes snugly behind the tower louvres, cutting a small hole in any bird netting which gives access into the box, but not into the whole tower. Amazingly the swifts don't seem to mind the bells! Video footage shows birds jump slightly at the first ring and then settle back down.

Please have a look for swifts in late April and if you see them whizzing around the church and churchyard then why not return a few weeks later and see if you can see where they are nesting. Please let us know what you find, email wildlife@cfga.org.uk.

FLOWER & CRAFT CLUB

Message from Sue Forrester 07854 043187

I'm afraid that there isn't a confirmed date for this month's meeting yet, but the date will be set at our March 29th meeting, and I will make sure everybody is informed. We have organised groups to depict the 4 Elements in flowers and in artifacts but there is always room for more help.

For our next challenge Pauline demonstrated a spiral arrangement suitable for Easter. She used a large candle and roses but we can be creative with our own choices. If anyone would like to contribute some flowers for Easter, please feel free to do so; a vase of daffodils is always a good choice. If you haven't visited our friendly group yet please pop in and have a cup of tea any Wednesday we are in session.

CONNECTIONS another message from Sue...

An activity at Connections recently asked groups to complete an acrostic using the words LIGHT and LIFE. The aim of the service was to see Jesus as our Light and Life. Printed below are the brilliant outcomes.

Well done Suzy, Gill and Neil.

PASTORAL TEAM

- HILLSWOOD LODGE CARE HOME

Although there is limited space in the lounge area volunteers are welcome to help lead and boost the singing. There is room for about 6 or 7 of us.

The next dates are all Wednesdays April 19th and May 17th at 11.00am.

Please inform Shirley or Rev Patricia if you are able to come. The residents really enjoy these services and the chats afterwards.

- WALKS followed by COFFEE / LUNCH

Members of the pastoral team also arrange short walks followed by either coffee or a light lunch at a café. Thank you to Roger Brindley for leading us in our recent walk near the Roaches followed by tea and cake at the Tea Room! Listen out for details of the next walk.

JOYFUL NEWS!

Rev Alan and Maryanne returned home from their recent trip to New Zealand and couldn't wait to meet their beautiful new grandson Felix Otto, born on February 21st to daughter Rachel. Congratulations to all! We pray that Felix will be blessed and be a great blessing to his mum and dad and all his family.

(PS Alan and Maryanne were finally re-united with their luggage on their return home! They are expecting compensation from the airline.)

ST CHAD'S NEWS

Sunday 2nd April—Family Service:

At St. Chad's
At St. Chad's

Once again we will be joined by the adorable Gareth the donkey, definitely the star of last year's Palm Sunday service!

This year we will be starting off at the village hall car park at 10.45 am and we will walk through the village with Gareth the procession. There will be palm crosses and banners to wave and lots of fun and laughter and a chance for people to see Gareth and to join in with the celebrations.

When we arrive at the church we will be able to share a typical family service (unfortunately Gareth won't be joining us for that!).

Please come along for as much or as little as you wish to share. Whatever you choose you will be very welcome.

Good Friday: 7th April at 11.00am

There will be a special Good Friday service at St Chad's starting at 11am.

It will be a service of reflection with music, readings and prayers.

Please take just an hour out of your busy lives to spend thinking of the sacrifice that Jesus made for each and everyone of us.

Kath writes... It is with sadness that I report the death of Albert Rosie. Albert was dad of Peter and father-in-law of Kath, both long standing members of St Chad's. Albert was 95 and our regular veteran on Remembrance Sunday. We will miss his smile and the twinkle in his eye.

APCM

2023 St Chad's APCM will be held in church following the service on Sunday 30th April. It's your church and we need you so please try your best to delay lunch and stay for the meeting.

NEWSLETTER February 2023

from Lindsey Stockton, Project Manager

I hope you are all well and enjoying the first signs of spring, which may or may not be covered over with snow by the end of the week! February felt like a steady month, but I do feel that our interpretation of quiet, steady and busy have changed dramatically over the last year when I provide the usual comparison with the figures from February 2022. So here are the figures for last month (February 2022 figures in brackets):

Total vouchers fulfilled	= 128	(60)
No. of Adults fed	= 175	(86)
No. of Children fed	= 88	(48)
Total no. fed	= 263	(134)

As you can see, a significant increase, but something we have come to expect and which our amazing team just takes in its stride now. The team really did surpass themselves in February, coping with the bold actions of their Project Manager! As mentioned in previous editions of the newsletter, we have had to purchase stock in order to satisfy the increased demand for our services. On a weekly basis we were running short or out of, one item or another. I therefore decided that I should place a very large order with Aldi in order to consolidate our stocks of all the core items. When ordering so many different things, in my defence, it is a little difficult to envisage just how big a big order can be! Nine car loads and 1800kgs later, it was very evident! Miraculously, due to our low stock levels, it has all fitted into the warehouse and the volunteers are still talking to me. Indeed they all agree that this is the best way in which to restock.

Food sourcing is an issue nationally for all food banks, and Trussell Trust now has a dedicated team who are in constant contact with all major suppliers to try to ensure that food banks are able to obtain the stock that they need. We are very fortunate with our local Aldi store, which is able to process orders for us with a 48 hour turnaround, so a huge thank you to them. And, of course, a huge thank you to all the volunteers who collected, transported, lifted, dated and put away all of the 1800kg.

We also spent the remainder of the Morrison's vouchers during February which we received as a result of the Christmas Giving Tree donated to by their customers during December. I have opened an account with Booker Cash-and-Carry in Hanley to provide us with greater purchasing flexibility. One of the reports I am able to run from the Trussell Trust data system shows the proportion of stock we have purchased. This shows that during February 44% of our incoming stock was purchased. This was obviously massively distorted by the Aldi purchase (which will hopefully last us for a few months) but it has prompted me to look at the figures for the last three years to see how the situation has changed. The figures are as follows...

2020	0.96% purchased
2021	6.69% purchased
2022	18.14% purchased
2023	29.79% purchased

This is something that we do need to carefully monitor and a key part of my role will be ensuring that we receive adequate food and financial donations.

We did receive a bumper donation of 600kg from Cottage Delight, consisting of a wide range of the goodies they sell. Whilst not on our standard picking list, it is always lovely to be able to provide our clients with this type of treat food.

Whilst our stock levels are currently healthier than they have been for some while, we are always grateful for any donations from our standard shopping list as follows...

Longlife semi-skimmed milk	Fruit squash	Cereals
Pasta sauce	Sponge puddings	Tinned tomatoes
Tinned vegetables	Tinned rice pudding	Teabags/Coffee
Instant mash	Rice	Tinned meat
Tinned potatoes	Tinned fish	Tinned fruit
Tinned soup	Custard	Biscuits/snack bars
Ketchup/brown sauce	Chocolate

In addition, the food bank distributes household cleaning products – washing up liquid, multi-surface cleaner, cleaning cloths and laundry liquid. Toiletries – shampoo, conditioner, shower gel, soap, toothpaste, toothbrushes, deodorant, razors and shaving foam. We are seeing a lot more families with young children, so would particularly welcome donations of nappies – all sizes, along with the whole range of baby and child toiletries. Then not forgetting the four legged members of the household, with a need for wet and dry dog and cat food.

If you are a donor, please try to deliver your donations at the Foodbank on Tues and Fri between 10.00 am and 12 noon – as it gets very busy with clients after this time. Alternatively, you may use any of our Permanent Collection Points which are still available at various locations listed on our website -

<https://leekdistrict.foodbank.org.uk/give-help/donate-food>

We now have a new collection point in the Leek branch of Asda. We are also able to collect any large donations - please contact the Foodbank to arrange this. If any of you would like to discuss anything relating to the Foodbank or arrange a visit, please contact me at projectmanager@leekdistrict.foodbank.org.uk or on 07916 005064.

We continue to welcome corporate volunteers, school groups and individual volunteers, and we are always very happy to show people around and share with them the work we are doing.

Love, best wishes and blessings to you all

KNITTED SQUARES...Latest from Sue and Norman Millard

To all the busy ladies

Thank you again for all your efforts. Here are a few photos from our recent trip to the Women's Refuge in Dunkirk.

First the usual blessing service at Biddulph Methodist Church, but note the piles of packets of wipes on the table on the right. These were requested last time we went as there is no running water in the camps so these are necessary for hygiene and personal dignity.

Norman unloads a trolley overflowing with knitted blankets.

Your blankets and wipes are gratefully accepted by the volunteers.
